Chronic Diseases.
A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER,
Has made Chronic Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to his study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. F. B. Brewer claims to work exclusively and to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being better in the diagnosis, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call on him, and he will be glad to attend to them. He will not do so until he has seen them. He will not do so until he has seen them. He will not do so until he has seen them.

Notice is hereby given that the annual warrant for the collection of city taxes for the year 1883, is now in my hands, and that I will receive same at my office in this city, until the 1st of September next, after which I shall proceed to collect the same at the law directed.

MISCELLANEOUS

DR. FISHBLATT
OF THE
Medical and Surgical INSTITUTE

Late Lecturer and Professor in one of the leading medical colleges in the United States, and of the New York Medical and Surgical Journal, consulting physician and operative surgeon in the New York Hospital for Chronic Diseases, Physician in Chief of the Medical and Surgical Institute of Cedar Rapids.

ON ACCOUNT OF HIS Immense Practice IN Janesville, Wis.
WILL MAKE HIS NEXT VISIT AT THE

MYERS HOUSE,
Wednesday, August 29th.

And Remain Two Days

When he can be consulted on:
Deformities, Spinal and Chronic Diseases.

Dr. Fishblatt
Has discovered the greatest cure in the world for weakness of the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitations of the heart, diseases of the throat, nose or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible diseases arising from solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the plague of the streets to the Marquis de Sade, blighting their most radiant hopes, and at times rendering marriage impossible.

YOUNG MEN.
Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which usually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, who might, if it were wisely and judiciously treated, escape with the terrors of their disease, or, worse, to destroy the living life, may call with full confidence.

Marriage.
Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness (loss of procreation power, impotency), nervous debility or any other disqualifications, should consult Dr. Fishblatt, who will, under the care of Dr. Fishblatt, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and, confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

Organic WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured; full vigor restored. This affliction—often called the penalty paid by the victim of improper indulgence. Young persons are not to commit themselves to marriage until they are fully cured. The consequences of this subject will deny that procreation is lost, soon after the marriage, and the consequences can be the prudent. Besides being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious effects produced by the early habits of youth, namely: Weakness in the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, weakness of the frame, cough, consumption and death.

A Cure Warranted.
Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretensions who keep them tramping month after month, taking poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately.

Dr. Fishblatt
Graduated at one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States has effected some of the most remarkable cures in the history of medicine, many troubled with racking in the head and eyes when asleep, great nervousness, being almost insensible to the touch, and being unable to attend to their business, with derangement of the mind, were cured immediately.

Particular Notice.
Dr. F. Fishblatt addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both mind and body, and ruin them for business, study, society, marriage. These are some of the sad, melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, namely: Weakness in the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, weakness of the frame, cough, consumption and death.

ers made money "land over fast," and who ever had anything to sell was sure of high prices, but merchandise was far safer property than Confederate money, which evaporated, so to speak; its value, manifestly, by what it would buy, growing less and less every day. After the so-called finding of the debt in the second year of the war, by which one-third of it was practically repudiated, nobody had any confidence in the currency, and whoever possessed it was anxious to convert it into less portable property. Long-headed people invested in land, speculators bought cotton and tobacco, and the same large fortunes were made in the evacuation of the blockade runners preferred diamonds, as combining certain value with the greatest economy of space, and some very fine jewels changed hands in Richmond during the war. Many men, prudent otherwise, made large investments in Confederate bonds, secured by cotton and tobacco, reasoning plausibly that the cause of secession would succeed, and that the government could not afford to let the opposite event confiscate what it had so liberally allowed property of all sorts. Indeed, it is a matter of question how much the cry of "No quarter," kept up by politicians on both sides for party purposes, had to do with the dogged determination of the Confederates to "die in the last ditch."

During the earlier part of the war soldiers' wages were carried to the greatest lengths, and the women of the south made fortunes of all who were the gray. The uniform covered any number of sins, and, as a disguised small girl, brought up in the most exclusive circle, expressed it, it really seemed as if any man with a stripe on his trousers thought he had a right to speak to any lady whom he met. Virginia society of the best sort is proverbially aristocratic, and in its cavalier days, and looking scornfully down on all of less ancient lineage. The war never changed all that for the time being, and the parlor floors of many an exclusive house opened to those who, but for the uniform they wore, would have been entertained in the library or office by the gentlemen of the family without even a glimpse of the ladies. Some enthusiastic girls carried their devotion to the cause so far as to correspond with all and sundry soldiers who came to visit, and a piece of Quakerism, promptly suppressed by prudent parents and guardians.

The fact that a uniform, especially an officer's uniform, was accepted as a sufficient passport to society could hardly fail, sometimes, to bring about disagreeable results. So surely as the cat is left in close proximity to the cream of the young men of the South, and so surely as young people of both states are allowed to mix freely in social life, there will be more or less falling in love between them. Every wearer of a uniform was not exactly the sort of man to whom a careful father would willingly give his daughter in marriage, and not few unhappy unions were the consequence of this romantic disregard of social lines. Worse, also, some wretches, trusting to the security afforded by distance and the difficulty of making inquiries in districts occupied by the Union forces, acted upon the sailor's rule of "a wife in every port," and married in Virginia, after having left a wife at home. Fortunately such cases were rare, and a greater proportion of war marriages proved happy than would have been reasonably expected.

THE GENTLEMAN WITH THE THIN GRIP-SACK.
New York World.
He was a grumpy-looking citizen. His grip-sack was so thin that he could hardly keep a tam with it. As he walked in a Sixth Avenue baker's counter he remarked to the young girl who was tending bar:

"Swamp day!"
"It is," she responded, as she picked off the end of a round-bread.

"How much is this?"
"Twenty cents apiece."

"I don't want a piece, I want a whole one."

"All the big bugs have gone home," Europe!" he continued, "and I'm afraid I'll have to go too."

"Do you see that grip? Full of bonds! I'm sorry I did it, but I gave myself up to it. I'll look me up in the Fifth Avenue hotel, and I could never stand the disgrace. How much is this?"

"How much is this?"
"Two cents."

"Gimme a pound, and two pounds of that cake with all the bugs in it. Also put up three or four red pies with the court-plaster across them."

They were wrapped up for him.

"Don't let anybody touch that grip until I put these things in the carriage."

Nobody touched it until the baker came in a couple of hours later and kicked it all around the block.

Accidents of Southern.
New York World.

A Philadelphia bill-printer relates this anecdote of Southern. "Early in his career a pile of very minor part gave himself an extraordinary amount of air at rehearsal. Southern came here and ordered a bill to be printed with the lady's name starred in large type, supported by the following ladies and gentlemen, and then followed the names of the company, ending up with Southern in the smallest type of all. The bill was being sent to the printer and the young lady's pride came down several paces."

Into the Land of Nod.
New York World.

"Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep!"
sleeping a little Dracut girl after her mother one night not long ago. Then she stopped. "If—!" her mother suggested. The little one hesitated a moment, half opened her heavy eyelids, and then continued, pausing long between the words:

"If I had a cow—that gave such—milk
I'd give her—in—the—finest silk.
Ammon!"

No Rest Day or Night.
In the fall of 1875 my sufferings were terrible. I was swollen to such proportions that I feared my limbs would burst. I had the best medical talent obtainable, and at the worst stage of my illness, when my husband and my friends had given me up to die, the late Dr. John Woodbury made a thorough examination of my case and pronounced my case acute kidney disease bordering on Bright's disease, and accompanied by gravel, and recommended the immediate use of Hunt's Kidney.

At this time I was suffering most terrible pain in my back, limbs and head, and could find no rest day or night for weeks, and I was growing weaker daily until I was unable to get up, and my husband ordered me to take Hunt's Kidney. Before taking half of one bottle I commenced to improve, and after taking six bottles was entirely cured. This was nearly eight years ago, and I have had no return of the disease. I have recommended Hunt's Kidney to others in similar cases, and it has never failed to cure. I have also used it for sick headache, and found it to be a rare relief. I think it the best medicine made, and cheerfully recommend it to all.

Mr. Farnsworth immediately took off his coat and wrapped it around the burning child, smothering the flames. The child was considerably burned, but it is hoped that nothing serious will result. The prompt action of Mr. Farnsworth no doubt saved the life of the little child.

CAMP PALMER.
A Great Crowd in Camp on Saturday and Sunday Evening.

The Grand Army Boys in Camp Yesterday.

The Breaking-up of the Camp To-day.
On Saturday evening between two and three thousand people assembled on Banker Hill to witness the dress parade of the first regiment. Adjutant General Chapman was present in the full dress uniform of a brigadier general; Colonel S. L. Braisted and staff, of the second regiment, was also present in uniform, as were Surgeon General Palmer, General J. A. Watrous, Colonel W. S. Stanley, Colonel W. C. Bailey and Colonel Charles King, of the Governor's staff, and occupied a prominent position near the regimental colors. The Janesville-broom brigade was present, and after the dress parade of the regiment were drilled on the parade ground by Adjutant Newman, and greatly amused the spectators.

Yesterday Camp Palmer was visited by an immense number of people, the principal exercises of the day being the inspection by Adjutant General Chapman, which took place at 10:30, there being between two and three thousand people present. The regiment was formed on the parade ground, where the inspection took place. There is no question but that the Monroe Guards, Captain Samuel J. Lewis, was the best appearing company; they showed up with the largest number of men, and their bright, buff uniforms, handsomely trimmed with buff and ornamented with plenty of buttons and cords, added much to their military appearance. While marching by company front, passing the inspection officers, and wheeled into line, the Monroe company was the only one that did not break in the center. Several other companies received considerable applause, the Bower City Rifles and Garfield Guards, of Racine, right and left companies in the line. The inspection being over the soldiers returned to camp, where the companies were again mustered for inspection.

The W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., seventy-two strong, were escorted to camp at ten o'clock by the Bower City Rifles, and the Catholic cornet band, the post remaining in camp all day, the guests of the Rifles. In the afternoon at four o'clock divine service was held, the chaplain, Rev. T. W. McLean, officiating.

The dress parade in the evening was witnessed by at least five thousand people, the parade ground being covered, notwithstanding the threatening weather which prevailed at that time; darkness coming on, the parade was dismissed, and the companies returned to their quarters under a double quick.

The Rockford Rifles, the guests of the Janesville Guards, appeared on the dress parade, and it was the universal opinion of all that they were the best drilled company in the field. They made a splendid appearance, and were assigned a position next left of B company, which was on the right.

Notwithstanding the large jam of vehicles in the neighborhood of the camp yesterday and last evening, but very few accidents happened, and nothing of a serious nature occurred. A carriage belonging to the blind asylum had a wheel broken, which we believe was the only accident of this nature which occurred.

Immediately upon the departure of the Rockford Rifles from camp this morning, orders were given for the first regiment to "break camp." The Beloit and Delavan companies left on the first train, for their respective homes followed at twelve o'clock by the Whitewater and two Racine companies. The Monroe Guards will go home on the evening train. Thus ending the second annual encampment of the first regiment, which so far as the regiment is concerned, has been a grand success. Good weather has prevailed throughout the time the boys have been in camp, and all those who have had any connection with the camp appear to be satisfied. The men of the regiment have all conducted themselves in a gentlemanly manner while out of camp, visiting the city, and there were no signs of any disturbance of any nature from this source.

While the encampment did not draw a very numerous crowd of people from outside the city, we suppose that our people will rest contented that Janesville won the location of the encampment by the liberal contributions of her citizens, and therefore ought to be, and no doubt are, satisfied.

We are requested to say that all persons having bills against the 1st regiment, will confer a favor by presenting them to Quartermaster Judd, at once.

All the tents were taken down to-day, and Quartermaster Curran was present to receipt for the same on behalf of the state.

For the companies, we have nothing special to say, all made a fine show, and showed themselves well up in the drill. If any one company should be awarded a prize it would be taken by the Monroe Guards, with the Bower City Rifles a good second, such seemed to be the opinion of many old veterans of the late war.

For the excellent manner in which Camp Palmer was arranged and furnished, much credit is due to the industry and skill of Quartermaster Thor. Judd. It was his duty to provide all necessary equipment for the regiment, and he did it thoroughly well, which gave great satisfaction to everybody interested in the matter.

A Clergyman's Testimony.
W. E. Gifford, pastor M. E. church, Beloit, Wis., was for two years, a sufferer from dyspepsia in its worst form until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Brown's Bitter cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

Palmer & Stevens and Sherr & Co.

Captain H. A. Smith Presented With a Handsome Badge.

On Saturday evening at Camp Palmer, at the conclusion of the dress parade, a pleasant little ceremony took place at the quarters of the Janesville Guards, it being the presentation of a handsome gold badge to Captain H. A. Smith, late captain of the Guards. The presentation speech was made by Mr. O. H. Fethers, and was brief, but to the point, recounting the faithful service of the captain to the Janesville Guards, and did not forget to compliment Mrs. Smith for her many acts of kindness towards the Guards. The presentation was a complete surprise to Captain Smith, and in receiving the handsome token of respect from his old comrades, he could only return his heartfelt thanks.

The badge is a good memento of the faithful service of a faithful officer, as made of pure gold. The upper part of which the pin is attached, represents a captain's shoulder bar, with blue enamel background and two white bars on either end. Across the face are the words "Captain H. A. Smith" in black enamel. Pendant from the bar are two gold chains to which are attached the medal proper, which is of solid gold and consists of a coat of arms of the Wisconsin National Guard, bearing a shield with green crossed. On the face of the shield in black enamel letters are the words: "Janesville Guards, Co. A 1st Regiment, W. N. G." On the reverse side of the shield is engraved: "His boys. A memento of five years' faithful service. August 5, 1878, to August 5, 1883."

The badge is one of the handsomest of military emblems, and there is no man who can wear it with more honor than Captain H. A. Smith, coming as it does from his comrades, the Janesville Guards.

Excited Thousands.
All over the land are going into ecstacy over Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their unlocked for recovery by the timely use of this great life-saving remedy, causes them to go nearly wild in its praise. It is guaranteed to positively cure severe Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Loss of Voice, any affection of the throat and lungs. Trial bottles free at F. Sherr & Co. drug store. Large size $1.00.

Drawing Prizes.
There were 158 soldiers who registered at the drugstore of Mr. E. B. Mainstreet during the encampment, and this forenoon numbers corresponding with the register were put into a box, and the drawing took place. No. 39 drew a box of cigars, the fortunate man being I. A. Holcomb, of company E, Beloit. No. 49 was a five dollar ticket and was taken by Corporal U. S. Grant, of company F, Racine. No. 52 was the cup and the lucky name was Sergeant L. H. Lee, company B, Janesville. It was a happy thought of Mr. Mainstreet to give the soldiers an opportunity to draw a respectable prize without cost, and the successful ones will feel quite elated over the enterprise.

Is Fun Better than Physic?
Fun is excellent; a hearty laugh is known the whole world over to be a health promoter; but fun does not fill the bill when a man needs physic. On the other hand people take too much physic. They would be more healthy, live longer and enjoy life thoroughly if they used Dr. Jones' Kidney and Liver Cure, which cures all blood disorders, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, removes pimples, and is a perfect tonic. Can be taken by the most delicate. Only 50 cents per bottle, of Stearns & Baker.

Barnum and Jumbo—Their Holiday at Janesville.
Famous Jacobo, and the Great Barnum and London Eight United monster shows with every feature, spectacle and net which have made their exhibitions everywhere such a succession of unparalleled triumphs, are positively to visit Janesville, on Tuesday, Sept. 25th. This most wonderful amusement enterprise ever devised by human genius and energy, includes two separate menageries, three circuses in three rings, a museum of living wonders, a huge elevated stage for the display of Olympian games, and the only Roman hippodrome; all exhibited under canvasses so enormous that they actually cover eight acres of ground. The attractions are so innumerable that our readers must resort to the bills for anything like special information, and even then there will be much left for the eye to learn, as notable additions of the most strange and savage men have been secured since the regular season's printing was completed. First came a tribe of stalwart Nubians; little of frame and fierce of heart, and Mohammedans of the most frantic and aggressive sect. They are strikingly interesting people, whose history is identified with the colossal works and conquests of mysterious Egypt, thousands of years before the birth of Greece or Rome. Next arrived a genuine Bushman camp of ferocious, embated and treacherous Australian Cannibals, black trackers and booming throwers. Their appearance is savagely grotesque, and strange beyond conception. Their flesh is seamed, welled and disfigured with deep, self-inflicted scars, which they regard as chief ornaments; while bony sticks and bones are thrust through their nostrils, ears and lips. They have no language and communicate in an outlandish gibberish, and by weird gestures. A company of gnomes, mules and female Zulus, of the savage nation that slow the young Prince Napoleon and defied the British arms with such desperate bravery, will challenge attention. They appear in their singular native costume and give marvellous illustrations of their skill in warlike feats. Burmese priests, voluptuous and graceful Mandarins dancing girls, brawny Japanese wrestlers and astonishing jugglers and acrobats, and a delegation of savage Sioux Indians, chiefs and warriors, will also be found in this department of the great show, the magnitude and expense of which will also be judged from its possessing whole herds and droves of rare wild beasts, including a single ordinary specimens. There are, for example, twenty-nine elephants, superb giraffes, gigantic ostriches and thirty-two camels and dromedaries. The chariot, obstacle and other hippodrome races will prove intensely exciting and amusing.

The array of foreign acrobatic talent is beyond all precedent, upwards of eighty acts being staged, each of which will attract thousands to enjoy its gorgeous display and sensations. In fact, as the Chicago press declares, it is a show that cannot be described—it must be seen.

Enterprising local agents wanted in this town for an article that is sure to sell, live druggists and grocers preferred. Address: Humiston Food Preservative Co., 72 Kilby street, Boston.

The Rockford Rifles.
At nine o'clock this morning, the Rockford Rifles, escorted by the cornet band and Janesville Guards, left Camp Palmer, for the depot, enroute for home. The Rockford boys, marched through the streets with their knapsacks strapped up on their backs, and were generally admired by our citizens as they passed along the streets. They are a well-drilled body of men, and a credit to the city they represent. During their stay in Camp Palmer, they were the guests of the Janesville Guards, and have received the compliments of all who visited that place and noticed their soldierly bearing while in camp. The Rifles were the first company to leave camp.

Our readers will find the medicines advertised in this paper at Prentice & Evenson's drug store, opposite the postoffice. They keep all the principal patent medicines in the market, and doubtless have the largest stock in the city.

The Clydesdales.
Mr. Archie Galbraith, of Galbraith Brothers, arrived here this morning direct from Scotland, seventeen days on the passage to Janesville, bringing with him twenty-five head of his fine Clydesdale horses as are generally seen in our collection, mostly young colts, from yearlings, to three-year-olds. He has one extra large two-year old, which he calls the Great Eastern, and which promises to develop into a horse weighing about 2,500 pounds. He is a monster colt. Daring Eoe, another very fine colt of extra size and handsome form, is among the lot. All are fine and seem to be all right and sound after the voyage over old ocean. On to-morrow the Galbraith Bros. will take possession of their new quarters, the stable formerly occupied by C. W. Jackman, on East Milwaukee street, where they will have more room and can show their stock to much better advantage. They invite the public to call and inspect the fine collection of imported horses. It is a fine show, well worth the time of any one, to look at the thoroughbreds.

A great many people feel themselves gradually failing. They don't know just what is the matter, but they suffer from a combination of indigestion, nervousness and pain. The only sure remedy known that will counteract this feeling and restore perfect health is Brown's Iron Bitters. By rapid assimilation it purifies the blood, drives out disease, gives health and strength to every portion reached by the circulatory system, renews wasted tissues, and restores robust health and strength.

Mr. Peter Mosser, New Haverford, Wis., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of great weakness and nervous prostration."

Rev. A. W. Whittey, Titusville, Wis., says: "After a long sickness from lung I used Brown's Iron Bitters and gained strength."
